Rector's Letter.....

Dear Friends,

I wonder if there are any jobs that you know need doing, but you just keep putting them off? I can procrastinate as much as anyone. I can justify not doing what I should by saying that I don't have time right now. However, in truth, the reason for my delays are to do with a lack of priority and motivation. For instance, a major tidy up of my study is something that will always be done 'some day'!

Sometimes in life there are things that have to be done and the challenges involved present much greater reasons to delay than disinterest or inconvenience. Perhaps fear holds us back. Or maybe there is a sense of letting go of something that is really precious to us. There can be a number of reasons why certain actions, that we know are necessary, can be too much for us to undertake, at least right now.

In the approach to Good Friday I am always moved by the immense tension within the Lord Jesus that is revealed in his prayer at Gethsemane. Jesus clearly knew what he was going to have to go through during the hours ahead. The intensity of his anguish was emphasised by Luke recording that he sweat what appeared like drops of blood (22v44). The cup of suffering that was Jesus' would be beyond what we can imagine. However, we can be deeply inspired by the prayerful request of greatest importance to the Lord, that the will of his Father would be fulfilled.

Sometimes in life, we have to 'press on'. The end result can give reason for the process, as uncomfortable as it may be. In accordance with the will of God, Jesus had to go through what he endured in the hours that followed. That Jesus followed through and was able to proclaim 'It is finished' (Jn 19v30), expressed his completing of what he was given to do. His obedience had meant that God's purpose was accomplished. Because of Jesus' sacrificial death, the price for sin had been paid. The intention of what happened during Holy Week and Easter continues to be that we might know restoration of relationship and the opportunity of being a child of God.

As we approach Holy Week and Easter, may we be filled with thankfulness for the Lord Jesus who prayed and fulfilled the prayer of ultimate obedience "... yet not my will, but yours be done."

Yours in Christ, Malcolm

Curate's Corner....

Dear Friends,

I heard this funny story of a lonely man who decided that life would be more fun if he had a pet. So, he went to the pet shop and told the owner that he wanted to buy an unusual pet. After some discussion, he decided a centipede would be the right pet for him. He brought his centipede who he'd named Colin home in a little white box to use as its house. He found a good location for the box, and then decided he would start off by taking his new pet to a restaurant to have dinner. So, he asked the centipede in the box, would you like to go out with me to have dinner? But there was no answer. This bothered him a bit, but he waited a few minutes and then asked him again, how about going out for a meal with me? But again, there was no answer from his new friend. So, he waited a few minutes more, thinking about the situation. He decided to ask him one more time; this time putting his face against the centipede's house and shouting, Hey, in there! Would you like to go with me to have dinner? A little voice came out of the box from the centipede: Patience man! I heard you the first time! I'm putting on my shoes!

Patience is something that many of us have trouble with (me included!). From driving down Drumadd Terrace and coming to a long line of traffic, and knowing you're going to be late, to arriving at a long queue at the check-out. We become annoyed and irritated at little delays like this. We get worked up and can become very impatient.

Someone once defined patience as: the ability "to let your light shine after your fuse has blown". As the old saying goes "Patience is a virtue". It's a quality we may admire in others. Patience is difficult because our pride, selfishness, and anger stand between us and patience. Many of us would have to admit that we find it difficult to be patient (I certainly do!).

But Scripture stresses that it is important to be patient. But why are we commanded to be a patient people? Because God is patient with us and because of this we are called to be patient with others, but it's easier said than done right?

What patience teaches us most of all is that God is still at work. He hasn't finished yet. He is working in our world and he's working in our lives. Sometimes that's tough to see. Sometimes it's tough to believe. We've waited and waited and hoped and prayed, and things are still the same. The new job hasn't come through; our loved one hasn't become well; the situation is still the same. But patience teaches us that God is still at work, and as hard as that may sometimes be to learn, that's the most important lesson of all.

The story is told about the great 19th century New England preacher Phillips Brooks, (Who wrote "O Little Town of Bethlehem") He was normally very calm but this day, he was irritated, and when a close friend asked about it, Brooks said, "Well, I'll tell you. I'm in a hurry; but God isn't." Peter tells us in the New Testament that a 1,000 years are like a day for God. But sometimes, we want God to act and to act right now.

Patience teaches us to wait, to remember that God is still in charge. As we mature in our Christian faith, as we learn to trust more and more that God really is in charge of this world and our lives, then patience is the fruit that grows as a natural result of our relationship with God. Remember, patience is a fruit of the Spirit. Galatians 5:22 says, "God's Spirit makes us... patient". It's a fruit that God will grow. And he grows that fruit as we grow in him. As we learn to trust him and as we learn to rely upon him.

I think the most important step we can take to develop patience is to give God control of our life. "I waited patiently for the Lord; he turned to me and heard my cry," says Psalm 40:1. Think of it this way, every time you and I lose our patience we're saying in effect, I'm in control and God's not! We're taking God out of the driver's seat and putting ourselves in it.

So let's challenge ourselves (me included) to be a patient people trusting the one who is in complete control.

Every blessing, Sarah

Is God calling you to Reader Ministry?

God has given a variety of gifts to his people, for works of service and ministry. He may have given you the gifts for ministry as a Parish Reader or Diocesan Reader. Perhaps you've felt God prompting you towards a new scope of service in his Church. Could it be that God is calling you to Reader Ministry?

Parish Readers serve by leading God's people in worship: by leading the service, or reading the Bible readings, leading the prayers, or assisting at Holy Communion - in their own parish. Diocesan Readers lead God's people in worship in the same way as Parish Readers, and are also authorised to preach - across the diocese by invitation.

Applications are currently open for the next training courses for both Parish Readers and Diocesan Readers: Parish Reader applications will close on Friday 30th May for selection interviews in June with the course beginning in September. Diocesan Reader applications will close on Friday 29th August for selection interviews in September, with the course starting in January 2026 in the Church of Ireland Theological Institute.

If you would like to explore the possibility of ministry as a Parish Reader or Diocesan Reader, or for more information, please speak to the Rector.

AYAC Mini Residential Photos!

The collage consists of seven black and white photographs arranged in a grid-like fashion. The top row has two photos: one of two boys on an inflatable slide and another of a boy sliding down a large slide with four large pipes at the top. The middle row features a large group photo of about 30 teenagers in a grassy field. The bottom row has four photos: a boy playing guitar and a girl playing piano during a performance, a large banner for 'TOM'S LEAP' featuring cartoon characters, a large group of people seated in a hall facing a stage, and a boy and a girl sitting on a bench looking at a phone together.
